

130 years in the market and still growing

We Protect Lives Worldwide

For over 130 years, our company philosophy has been centered around one concept: hygiene. Our products and services protect people and materials against infections and contamination. In doing so, we have learnt that the prevention of infections is considerably easier than fighting them. As one of the market leaders in infection prevention, Schülke offers solutions in the form of an harmonised product portfolio with numerous applications, ensuring its product quality and efficacy to combat the various challenges in the market.
